ALUMNI ASSOCIATION OF PHILADELPHIA HOLDS BAN- QUET AT CITY CLUB, FRIDAY

Interest in Development of College in Science Shown by Passing of Resolution

JOHNSON ELECTED PRES.

The annual banquet of the Ursinus College Association of Philadelphia was held at the City Club, Friday evening. The affair was well attended, about one hundred and sixty alumni and friends of the College were present.

A delicious banquet was served in the grill room of the Club. Norman E. McClure, Ph. D., as president of the Association, served as toastmaster. He spoke in a short address of the progress of the association during the past year expressing the hope that the excellent work would continue.

Mrs. Rhea Duryea Johnson, the president of the General Alumni Association, in her capable manner reviewed the work of the General Alumni Association appealing for increased loyalty and support among graduates of the College.

Ralph L. Johnson, the next speaker, brought to light many interesting and sometimes amusing facts of the relationship existing between alumni and undergraduates. He told of the Graduate Patrons Committee, of which he is the chairman, whose purpose it is to secure greater co-operation and easier points of contact between the students and those who have graduated.

Levi J. Hammond, who received the degree of Doctor of Science at Founders' Day, was the orator of the evening. Dr. Hammond chose as his subject, "Is Knowledge Profound or Superficial?" This topic was most appropriate to the time and place.

Dr. James M. Anders presented to the body, "A Science Department for Ursinus!" Dr. Anders, one of the oldest members of the Board, is a tried and true friend of the College. The glorious vision of future Ursinus, which Dr. Anders revealed is flung as a challenge to alumni and friends to

LEGION BENEFIT MARCH 14

"What Price Glory," the well-known William Fox presentation, will be shown Wednesday evening, March 14, in the Thompson-Gay Gymnasium. This portrayal of the war needs no introduction, and the full picture will be shown on this occasion.

The admission is fifty cents and the proceeds will go to the Byron S. Fegely Post of the American Legion. An orchestra made up of college students will serve to make the picture more realistic and worth attending, and it is hoped that large numbers will attend its presentation.

ENGLISH CLUB DISCUSSES SHORT STORY DEVELOPMENT

The development of the English and American short story was the theme discussed by the English Club in its meeting Monday night at Olevian Hall.

Miss Dorothy Berger, '28, read an interesting paper on the "Development of the Short Story in England and America." Interesting sidelights on the life and works of David Herbert Lawrence and Sherwood Anderson were given in the papers of Miss Mary Kassab, '28, and Miss Helen Lucas, '28. Dr. Smith, in his remarks, pointed out the merits and failures of the modern short story.

Misses Mary Weiss, Marie Markley, Mary Cobb, Margaret Stocker and Marjorie Traves of the class of '29 were admitted into the membership of the club.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION TO HOLD ITS ANNUAL BAZAAR ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Minstrel Show and Sketch Will be Featured Friday and Amusements and Bazaar, Sat.

DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT

Plans for the Athletic Bazaar which is to be held next Friday and Saturday have become definite and the work which is to make this a most interesting week end is well under way.

Friday evening's minstrel show and sketch promise to be worth seeing. The directors of the sketch, Paul Krasley, '28, and John Wilkinson, '30, have secured an unusual playlet and the success of this number is assured.

The best talent of the College is included in the list of performers for the minstrel show under the management of Russel Fox and Tom Swanger, '29. Those participating include William Saalman, '29, interlocutor, Messrs. Shreiner, '28, McKee, '29, Fox, and Swanger as ends, and Messrs. Wilkinson, Armento, Weller, Mayer, Peterson, Schell, Pyle, Randolph and Reginald Helffrich, Mattis, Featherer, Thompson, Lefever, and Urch. Richard Snyder, '29, will serve as accompanist.

The amusements under the direction of Virginia Kressler, '29, are sure to

FRESHMAN TEAM DEFEATS PENNINGTON ON SATURDAY

The Freshmen closed their current basketball season Saturday afternoon by scoring a decisive 41-32 victory over Pennington Prep on the latter's home court.

The yearlings, by winning their final game, closed their season with two victories and six defeats, the other victory being over the Temple Frosh. Sterner was the leading light for the first year men. Coach "Jake" Stoneback inserted the scrubs in the final quarter after the regulars held a twenty-point lead over their Jersey foes.

STUDENTS ATTEND OPERA

A party of thirty Ursinus students went to Philadelphia last Thursday evening to hear the Wagnerian Opera "Die Walkure," which was presented by the Philadelphia Civic Opera Company in the Metropolitan Opera House.

Florence Anstral, as "Brunnhilde," and Paul Althouse, in the role of Siegmund, met with considerable success in the singing of their parts. The entire production was enthusiastically received, and the students who attended felt satisfied that they had once again been let in a real musical treat.

HARRISBURG ALUMNI ASSO. TAKE NOTICE

The annual dinner meeting of the Harrisburg Alumni Association will be held at the Penn-Harris Hotel, that city, on Saturday evening, March 3 at 6.30 o'clock. Every alumnus and former student of Ursinus within striking distance of Harrisburg is urged to attend. Several members of the Faculty have promised to be on hand to give us the latest information on our rapidly growing Alma Mater. Please send your acceptance to the undersigned.

WOMEN'S DEBATING TEAMS DEFEAT SUSQUEHANNA SAT.

On Saturday night, February 25th, in Bomberger Hall, the Ursinus women's affirmative team met the Susquehanna negative team in a spirited debate. The question for debate was: Resolved that the system of primary elections for State and National affairs should be abandoned. Dr. Isenberg was the presiding officer. The judges were: Mrs. Cornish, of Collegeville, a graduate of Goucher College; the Rev. Snyder of Norristown; and the Rev. Ohl, of Trappe. Their decision was unanimously in favor of the affirmative team, who well deserved the victory. Their points and manner of delivery were equally clear and commendable. The members of the Ursinus team are Miss Florence Benjamin, '30; Miss Agnes Lorenz, '28; Miss Kathryn Sanderson, '30; and Miss Cora Gulick, '28, alternate. The Susquehanna negative team consisted of the Misses Frances Thomas, Wilma Walker, and Mary Royer, with Miss Corinda Sell, alternate. Miss Olive Sargeant and Miss Mabel Fritsch served as time-keepers.

On the same evening the negative team journeyed to Selinsgrove to meet the Susquehanna affirmative team. This team was composed of Emma Baxter, Sara Stahl, and Mary Eastop with Eva Swanson as alternate. The judges awarded the decision unanimously to Ursinus represented by Gladys Burr, '28, Gladys Park, '28, Rebecca Engel, '28, and Mary Oberlin, '29, alternate.

MEN'S NEGATIVE TEAM DEFEATED BY JUNIATA

The men's negative debating team of Ursinus lost a 1-0 decision to the Juniata affirmative team on the question of the primary election, on Thursday, February 23, in Bomberger Hall.

The Juniata team had a well knit argument, and clearly outclassed the locals. The Juniata team was composed of Roy Shrock, '29, Oliver Winters, '28, Claude Flory, '29, with Alfred Corman, '30, as alternate. The following men debated for Ursinus: Nelson Bortz, '30, J. Wilbur Clayton, '28, Philips Willauer, '30, with Harold Martin, '30, as alternate.

The chairman of the debate was Prof. James Lane Boswell, of Ursinus, and the judge was Prof. Wm. Gebhard, coach of debating at Spring City High School.

HARP ENSEMBLE THURSDAY

An interesting concert will be given next Thursday evening in Bomberger Hall by Nicoletta's Harp Ensemble. This ensemble consists of five harpists and is under the direction of Frank Nicoletta, harpist in the Philadelphia Orchestra. Fred Homer, baritone, will assist in making this an unusual and worth-while program. The hour is 8:15.

BEARS DEFEATED ON TRIP BY LEBANON VALLEY AND BUCKNELL UNIVER. BISONS

Newcomer Stars at Lebanon While Hoagey and Bigley Lead in Lewisburg Game

HOME GAME WEDNESDAY

Ursinus' won-and-lost column now records a seven and seven story—the result of two defeats handed to the battling Bears by the Lebanon Valley and Bucknell quintets last Thursday and Friday evening. The second jaunt into alien territory resulted more disastrously than the one the week previous. At Annville on Thursday evening the Grizzlies lost 45-31 while the following night at Lewisburg the count favored Bucknell 34-26.

Lebanon Valley

The first stopover for the firemen was at Lebanon Valley on Thursday evening where the Bears failed to take advantage of their opportunities to shoot and lost to Charlie Gelbert and his fast moving outfit by a bad 45-31 score.

The Grizzlies were off form and trailed from the beginning of the fracas. At halftime the lead favored the Annville men by eight points, 20-12 while Capt. Piersol and his scorers, Gelbert and Piela, continued their merry way in the second stanza.

Dick Newcomer was the Bears best bet both offensively and defensively. The agile guard tallied five double-deckers to lead Kichline's men in scoring. Hoagey, Moyer and Francis each had five points to their credit.

Bucknell

The Bucknell scrap the following night proved to be a better all-round game with the fighting firemen recovering some of the old dash and zip. The Lewisburg lads, who dealt the Grizzly five a jarring 27-22 setback earlier in the season on their home court, were forced to the limit to nose out the invaders.

At halftime the score was tied at 16-16. The second half found the Bisons slowly pulling away from Ursinus and although the Red, Old Gold and Black team threatened several times Seiler and his men wound up in front, 34-26

Both Hoagey and Bigley found themselves during this tussle, Harry garnering ten points to lead both teams in individual scoring while Hoagey and Seiler came next with eight apiece. Both teams played a fast game with close guarding featuring.

GIRLS DEFEATED BY CEDAR CREST IN FRIDAY'S GAME

A 23-16 defeat was the result on Friday afternoon when the Ursinus girls' basketball team met the Cedar Crest sextette on the home floor. The U girls got the ball at the first jump and a nice pass followed thru the U. line. Hoffer made two field goals and two foul shots while Trull shot two field goals for the Cedar Crest team and the quarter ended with the Ursinus girls two points in the lead.

From that time on the score was in Cedar Crest's favor. Seitz was substituted for Connor, but it was not until the second half that McGarvey and Hoffer played together as forwards. Even then they could not get the lead as Cedar Crest's pass work was superior to that of the Ursinus team. Howell was substituted for Smead in the last quarter.

Hartman did some clever dodging, but Trull was high scorer for the Allentown girls, while Hoffer led the Ursinus tallies. The game on the whole was rather slow and not very exciting. The Ursinus coeds will meet

Editorial Comment

SCHOOL SPIRIT

"School spirit" is rather a hackneyed phrase but sometimes it is wise for us to pause and reconsider some of the things we say most glibly and find out whether we are really understanding what they mean and what they should stand for. There is more to school spirit than playing on or supporting athletic teams, valuable as these acts may be. True school spirit means always acting in such a way that you will bring credit upon your college. A chain is said to be as strong as its weakest link, and we should take care not to be that link.

Thoughtlessness is frequently the cause of acts that bring discredit upon the group, but it is not a sufficient excuse for the acts of those possessed of the intelligence college men and women ought to have. Failure to realize results is merely another form of thoughtlessness. The college is dependent for part of its support upon outsiders and we should consider how these will be impressed by what they learn of college life. This does not mean necessarily a slavish conformance to the ideas of others, but it does mean that we should try to see ourselves as others see us. Anyone who loves his alma mater wishes to see a high type of students coming among us every year. It is up to us then, to make our college the kind that the finest will want to attend. Consider the factors that influenced you in your choice of a college, and take it upon yourself to develop those characteristics which appealed to you.

The responsibility upon each individual is far greater than most of us realize. One person may start an idea or an atmosphere and yet be horrified when it is carried to its logical conclusion, generally much further than the originator ever considered. Unfortunately, a destructive idea seems to be more easily spread than a constructive one. If Ursinus is not the place you would like to urge your brother, sister, or friend to attend, then it is in part, at least, your fault.

Finally, as in any social unit, the highest development of the group can be attained through a concentration on the development of the individual. Anyone who by any act lowers his own character is also lowering the tone of the group, and any one who by the wrongful exercise of authority prevents another from self-development is also harming the group. Considering the fact that any spot on the reputation of our college affects us personally, let us have the courage to insist on what we know is right and to prevent a few from spoiling the good name of the group.

Y. W. C. A.

The topic of the Y. W. meeting Wednesday evening, which by the way, was Freshman night under the direction of Miss Reimert and Miss Williamson, was drama as a means of indirect discipline. This idea is by no means new. To-day, however, it is more subtle and effective and rouses less antipathy as it takes its place instead of the stock and pillory of the Puritans. Galsworthy has been a leader in recognizing how powerful a weapon the drama is, as a means of indirect discipline. His plays, Justice, Liberty, Silver Box, are universally appealing and set men thinking and that is good, for thought is the herald of action. This idea of indirect drama is not new. The church in the 14th century sponsored morality and mystery plays which are being reviewed today, notably in the German play "Everyman" now playing in N. Y. Miss Williamson in line with this thought wrote a very charming morality play called "Everyone," signifying that life comes to every one and when it does come to the modern girl she should be well prepared to meet it, possessing as she does, Perseverance, Health, Charm, Tact, Helpfulness, Charity and Broadmindedness.

Alexander Gwin Canan, '22, has been teaching history at the Haverford Township Junior High School since February 1 of this year.

Y. M. C. A.

The weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was in a form of a patriotic service, commemorating the birthday of George Washington. The devotional services were in charge of William Denny. Hymns of a patriotic nature were sung very heartily by those gathered in the meeting. The "Y" men thought it very appropriate to honor the man in whom the ideals of the American people are summed up. In the character of George Washington are mingled the qualities of great leadership, dignity, wisdom, courage and reverence. And so the day that commemorates this great personality did not pass without observance.

Dr. Elizabeth Brett White, dean of women, brought the message of the evening. She spoke on the qualities which Washington possessed that have endeared him to the hearts of the American people, and place him as one of the greatest and outstanding personalities in the history of the ages. Dr. White's excellent knowledge of history and of the facts concerning the life of George Washington made her address not only instructive but very interesting, and was heartily enjoyed by all those present.

Hester M. Heilman, '24, is in her fourth semester's work as Assistant Librarian at South High School, Denver, Colorado. Her present address is 1240 South Vine Street, Denver.

SEVERAL WOMEN TO SPEAK

TO GIRLS ON VOCATION

Several interesting events are in store for the women of the College in the near future through the efforts of the citizenship committee of the W. S. G. A. This committee under the direction of Dorothy Berger, '28, has succeeded in getting women interested in vocations and in women's work in general to come as speakers before the W. S. G. A.

Miss Edith Randolph West, of Philadelphia, will be here on March 15. Miss West is a Director of Vocational Guidance at the Bureau of Occupations and specializes in placing college women in positions other than teaching. She will be entertained at a dinner with the senior women and will spend the evening and following morning in conference with those who wish to see her.

On March 26 Miss Gertrude Ehly, of Bryn Mawr, will speak to a mass meeting of the women students. Miss Ehly is connected with the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters, and is expecting to conduct a school of politics at Bryn Mawr on April 10. She will be assisted in this by representatives from Swarthmore, Bryn Mawr, Haverford and Ursinus.

Plans had been made to have Miss Sarah Askew, State Librarian at Trenton, among Ursinus visitors but Miss Askew is unable to come and has suggested in her place the head of the Philadelphia Library. Ursinus women are fortunate in having these interesting women as guests and will undoubtedly find their messages helpful.

WEEKLY WITTICISMS

Everybody will agree that, at least, Freshman week was a "howling" success. Some excellent material for the Glee Club was unearthed.

Why go to the shore? Now that we have a boardwalk, we may soon expect to see bathing beauties roaming over the campus.

The weather man almost pulled a mean one on the Sophs the other day, when it rained a little on the morning the Frosh had to wear slickers. However, the sun came out by noon, and the Frosh continued to look foolish.

Some of the boys that went to the opera the other night don't like music, can't understand German, get to Philadelphia often anyway, and think that operas as a whole are rather boring. Still and all, they went. Could it have been that the bus driver had been previously bribed to turn out the lights that caused them to make the trip?

That will be all for this week. Go to the Minstrel show and hear some good jokes.

ALUMNI NOTES

Mary E. Gross, '23, who is teaching in the English department of West Philadelphia High School, was faculty advisor for last term's year book.

The engagement of Gladys Light, '22, of Lebanon, to George Barber, of Doylestown, was recently announced. At present "Glad" is teaching in the junior high school at Haddonfield, N. J. Mr. Barber is a graduate of Penn State and is head of the Vocational Department of the Abington High School.

Lewis E. Smith, '23, received his Master of Arts degree at Columbia University in Political Science. He is making a study of the Pennsylvania legislative system for a doctorate thesis. Prof. Smith is head of the department of government at Schuylkill College at present.

Grace N. Kramer, '14, principal of the high school at Audubon, New Jersey, received the degree of Master of Arts at the University of Pennsylvania at the conferring of degrees in February.

The Tower Window

NOT long since a minister in addressing a gathering of men of his profession went out of his way to tell them he liked Ursinus College because of the influence the college exerted on one of his parishioners, a young woman who had recently been graduated from the institution. He stated that the girl had gone to Ursinus from a home in which there was plenty of means, that there was no necessity upon her of entering any kind of remunerative occupation and that he had expected her to return home and enjoy the life of ease which her circumstances permitted. On the contrary, however, and without consulting her parents or her pastor, she had secured before graduation an appointment as a teacher in a high school and in the following fall buckled down to steady work in the school-room.

That the desire to be of service in the world should animate our students is gratifying but not surprising. The philanthropic spirit has run through the life of this college from the early days down to the present. No graduate of Ursinus, man or woman, can be satisfied merely to vegetate after four years of the kind of education given here.

Teaching is one of the noblest of professions and all honor to our young men and young women who choose that as their field of activity. It is pleasing to note, however, that in recent years there has arisen a disposition on the part of some, including the most intellectually talented, to break away from this well beaten track and enter upon other fields. A number have taken up secretarial work. A few have become bacteriologists and laboratory assistants to physicians and scientific workers. Others have entered the field of social service. Large opportunities are opening for versatile young women in religious work as pastors' assistants and directors of parish activities. The difficulty here seems to be that most of the training schools leading to this profession are too elementary for college graduates. There ought to be schools for young women that would rank in standing with the theological seminaries which the churches maintain for young men.

Ursinus women have just made the merest beginning, as far as numbers are concerned, in the profession of nursing. I know of only two who are graduate nurses although there are a few now in training. But note the records of these two. One of them, Miss Gladys M. Boorem, '15, after only a brief experience in the practice of her profession was called to become an instructor of nurses in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital and took up her duties there at the beginning of the present year. At the same time, the other, Miss Millicent Xander, '23, who likewise had been at work as a professional nurse only a short time, entered upon a similar position in the institution from which she had been graduated, the Stanford University Hospital at San Francisco. Thus the only two professional nurses among Ursinus graduates are promptly put to work at training other nurses, one on the Atlantic coast, the other on the Pacific. The broad continent lies between beckoning other Ursinus young women to join these two who have blazed the way in this great field in which talent and scientific background are so important.

The next decade should see scores of Ursinus women going into these other and less tried fields of work while at the same time the especially adapted continue to go into education.

URSINUS FACULTY REPRESENTED AT CONFERENCE

Two hundred college presidents and professors, and headmasters of preparatory schools, from the New England and Middle Atlantic States, gathered at Princeton University over the week-end of February 17th to confer upon the subject of religion as it affects the college men and women of today. President Omwake and Professor Sheeder were the Ursinus representatives.

The opening meeting of the Conference was held in Proctor Hall of the Graduate College on Friday evening, on which occasion the various representatives were the guests of the University at dinner. President John Grier Hibben, on behalf of Princeton, delivered an address of welcome, after which some definite problems concerning the state of religion among college men were suggested. "The View-point of the University Administration" was presented by President Ernest H. Wilkins, of Oberlin College. Dr. Albert E. Stearns, of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., spoke from "The Viewpoint of the Headmaster." "The Viewpoint of the Undergraduate" was presented by Martin L. Keeler, a Yale senior, and President Henry Sloane Coffin, of Union Theological Seminary, spoke on "The Viewpoint of the University Preacher."

The morning sessions on both Saturday and Sunday were held at Princeton Inn and were opened by a period of worship, with Professor Rufus M. Jones, of Haverford College, in charge. These worship services were followed by general discussion periods and in the afternoon and evening separate group meetings were held to discuss specific problems of interest. Such problems as university worship, the place of religion in the curriculum, extra-curricular religious organization and religion in preparatory schools were discussed.

Addresses were made by Dean Herbert E. Hawkes of Columbia, Dean Willard L. Sperry of Harvard Divinity School, and President Clarence C. Little, University of Michigan.

The emphasis of the conference seemed to be chiefly in finding ways and means of making religion a vital factor in the lives of college men and women. The Conference as a whole, composed of men representing every phase of the curriculum, seemed to be unanimous in favoring the inclusion of adequate religious courses in the curricula of preparatory schools, colleges and universities. Factual courses in the history of religions, the Bible, and religious education were advocated; but at the same time it was urged that insofar as possible students should be given an opportunity to express their religious reactions.

Dean Sperry pointed out that "It is not so much the task of the college to supply the bolt of spiritual lightning which ignites the religious material in its undergraduates, but to lay down upon the altar some good dry wood in the shape of a definite body of ideas—some tangible form of religious fuel—which may, later on, catch fire as a result of some of life's bitter experiences." Dean Sperry took exception to what he termed "the tendency to treat students as a last court of appeals in religious matters." This practice, he declared, "is hardly fair to the undergraduate because he belongs to a sheltered and privileged class, since he is not shouldering the task of bread labor. He is between the home he has left and the home he hopes to establish. He has not experienced life in totality."

The Ursinus representatives expressed themselves as highly pleased with the Conference and referred particularly to its great inspirational value. A printed report of the proceedings of the Conference will be ready for distribution within a short time.

During the past week a Library Institute under the direction of the Library School of Drexel Institute and sponsored by the A. L. A. was held in Philadelphia. Librarians from many cities and institutions attended the several meetings. Professor Yost and Miss Kuntz were present at some of the sessions.

Quality sent P.A.
to the head of the class

YEARS ago, P.A. showed a clean pair of heels to the field of smoking-tobaccos. It has maintained its lead ever since putting more distance behind it every year. There must be a reason why P.A. is the world's largest-selling brand.

There is! Open a tidy red tin and get a full breath of that class-by-itself fragrance. Then tamp a load into the bowl of your pipe and light up. The first pull tells you why more men smoke P.A. than any other brand. Cool and smooth and mellow and mild—not for one pipe-load, but always. Try this long-burning tobacco, Fellows. You'll say so!

THE SCIENCE BUILDING

After attending the annual banquet of the Philadelphia Alumni Association and observing the whole-hearted support with which that body so enthusiastically endorsed the present campaign for a science building little doubt can exist in the minds of alumni, students, and friends of the College that a building to be used for instruction and work in the Physical Sciences will soon appear on the campus.

At that meeting steps were taken which may prove momentous in the life of the Institution. When such dear friends of Ursinus as Dr. James M. Anders, for many years a loyal supporter of the College, and one of the outstanding members of the Board of Directors, expresses in words of whose meaning there can be no doubt that the time is now ripe for the erection of a building which will make complete the early dream of the Founders who placed instruction in the Sciences as the first aim of the School, and Dr. Levi Jay Hammond, President of the Staff of the Methodist Episcopal Hospital, and Director of Geo. S. Cox Medical Research Fund, loyal friend and youngest alumnus of Ursinus who so eloquently demonstrated the aim of scientific research and study in an institution such as Ursinus represents, and when the President of the College sounds the note to marshal forces whose work shall be to secure the satisfaction of the fond dream of a Science building at Ursinus, himself endorsing the movement urging the alumni and friends to co-operate in this most worthy cause; with men and forces such as these backing this movement, its completion is practically assured.

The era of a Greater Ursinus is at hand, not a greater Ursinus in the sense of a bigger one with increased enrollment, but a greater Ursinus in its opportunities to conserve those values for which the fathers of the College founded it, for increasingly greater opportunities to the certain type of students with moderate or even poor means, who have demonstrated so very often that they after all are the cornerstone of the social structure, to conserve the principles of Christian education, with all that that intrinsically implies, not Christian education as it has been debased by institutionalism but that education which expresses the spirit of the founders' life. This Greater Ursinus will not necessarily come with more students, the quality and not the number of students should determine the reputation of a school.

It but remains for the remainder of alumni and friends to help gratify the crying need of Ursinus, a Science building, to insure its early erection.

materialize. Dr. Anders outlined in a concrete fashion the work this new department would do.

Geo. L. Omwake, President of the College, concluded the remarks of the banquet outlining "the next step." He spoke of the aims of the Founders in making Ursinus a school where study in the Physical Sciences should predominate, and spoke briefly of the high type of the early professors of Biology and Allied Sciences at Ursinus.

The dinner was brought to a climax by the resolution of Dr. Ralph Spangler which is printed in full.

Resolution

"Resolved that the Philadelphia Ursinus Association meeting in annual session to-night, endorse the wisdom of offering increased opportunity for the study of the sciences and for providing more advantageous laboratory facilities at Ursinus College, and that we authorize the President of this Association in conference with the President of the College to appoint a committee of five or more members from the Philadelphia Ursinus Association with Dr. James M. Anders and Dr. Levi J. Hammond as Honorary Chairmen to confer with the Board of Directors of the College as to ways and means of taking immediate steps to widen the scope of the science departments at Ursinus College and to formulate plans for the erection of a Science Building at Collegeville."

The Philadelphia alumni are to be commended upon their realization of the supreme need of Ursinus and for the way in which they are endeavoring in a concrete fashion to satisfy this need.

Officers for the coming years were elected: Dr. Ralph L. Johnson, President; Rev. Henry G. Maeder, Vice President, and Mayne R. Longstreth, Secretary-Treasurer.

be a feature of the week-end. From three to five Saturday afternoon events of a dramatic, athletic, and musical nature will be presented, and plenty of entertainment is promised during these hours.

For that invaluable asset, the refreshments, townspeople as well as college students are serving as committee chairmen. These committees include the following: Cafeteria, Mrs. Price; candy, Mrs. Fretz; cake, Mrs. Hendricks; ice cream, Ruth Von Steuben, '28; and punch, Abbie Carter, '29. The dance in the evening is in charge of Arthur Faust.

COLORS GIVEN TO FROSH

IN PICTURESQUE SERVICE

An impressive ceremony was held Monday evening when the Freshman girls were presented with the red, old gold, and black as a symbol of the fact that they have now passed the probation period and are true Ursinus women.

A procession, led by three Juniors, dressed in the red, old gold, and black, was formed so that each freshman walked up the aisle with a junior or senior. A striking color effect was produced by the fact that the freshmen all wore white in contrast to the dark dresses of the older girls.

Sarah Hoffer, '28, challenged the freshmen to live up to the high standards which the Woman's Athletic Association has set for itself, and the Ursinus "Fight Song" ended the athletic part of the ceremony.

The first year girls were welcomed into the fellowship of the Y. W. C. A. by Ruth Moyer, '28, and after her talk "Follow the Gleam" was sung by the group.

Ruth Von Steuben, '28, spoke of the aims of the Women's Student Council, and the presenting of the colors was carried out by members of the Junior class. Olive Sargeant held a bouquet of red roses to which Helen Reber tied a gold and Helen Wismer a black ribbon, each speaking of the significance of the color she presented. Miss Sargeant handed this symbolical bouquet to Margaret Stocker, who is vice-president of the Junior class, and she in turn presented it to Anne Connor, '31, who accepted it on behalf of her classmates.

Following this all freshmen were presented with colors by their sisters of the Junior Advisory Committee. Dr. White in a short and thought-provoking talk urged the girls to realize and accept their responsibility in keeping the Ursinus colors untarnished. The meeting was concluded by the singing of the Campus Song.

SENIOR GIRLS DEFEAT JUNIORS IN BASKETBALL

A most exciting contest between the Junior and Senior girls, in which the Seniors were victorious by the small margin of 22-21, took place Saturday morning. The game started with some good team work on the Junior squad and at the end of the first quarter the Juniors had the lead by one point in a 5-4 score.
